STEP 1 CLEANING THE SKIN

- Before you apply Fludroxycortide Tape, make sure the affected skin is clean and dry.
- If you need to shave the skin around the affected area, your doctor or nurse will tell you how to do it.
- Fludroxycortide Tape is waterproof, so once in its place, you can wash, bathe, shower or even swim.
- Its matte surface mean you can apply make-up over it.
- If using on the face, do not use it for more than five days.
- Children under 18 years: Fludroxycortide Tape can be used on children. Do not use on children for more than 5 days. Always follow your doctors instructions.

STEP 2 CUTTING THE TAPE

- Remove all contents from the packaging, read all usage instructions and wash your hands thoroughly.
- Use the cutting guide (available on our website) and a pair of sharp clean scissors as the tape won't tear.
- Make sure that the piece of tape you cut is big enough just to cover the affected area and an extra 0.5cm of skin all the way around.
- Apply the adhesive side of the tape to the affected area.
- Gently press and stroke gently from the middle outwards.
- Discard the paper backing and wash your hands.

STEP 3 MAINTENANCE

- Once applied, don't cover the tape with other dressings or tightly fitting clothes and do not leave it on your skin for longer than your doctor has advised.
- Unused tape can be kept in the original container, tightly closed, away from children and at less than 25 degrees C.
- Once applied you can go about your day.

STEP 4 CHANGING THE TAPE

- After 12 hours, carefully remove the tape.
- Use the same instructions as above if proceeding to apply new tape.
- Do not reuse after initial application.
- Do not throw away via waste water or household waste. Ask your pharmacist how to throw away any medicine you no longer use. These measures will help protect the environment.
